Our Town

Washington, Indiana is a town of 12,400 people located in the heart of Daviess County. People love living in Washington because the people here are generally very helpful, kind, and pleasant. Though we have several franchises in town, there are many hometown places to shop and eat that help give Washington a small-town feel. The schools tend to be staffed with teachers who really care about their students, and they are normally involved in the community outside the classroom. We are within an hour of several much larger cities that offer a wide variety of interesting things to see and do.
